JUST-A-RESTAURANT

What's In The Name ?

JAR stands for "just-a-restaurant".

It is our answer to the frequently asked question, "What is the concept of your restaurant?"

This response arrives at a time when restaurant menus defy easy geographical categorization, and the line between fine and casual is often blurred. In a move towards simplicity, we decided to dispense with superfluous definitions and go back to basics by describing our concept in the simplest possible terms – "no fuss, no frills – just a restaurant".

How is it different from 798 unit & co. Bistro?

Imagine JAR as another child of 798 unit & co., the culmination of our years of experience but with its own unique temperament. While 798 unit & co. bistros cater to more popular tastes, JAR –with a Central location and westernized audience– allows us to take a bolder approach in terms of food.

One thing remains across all our outlets, that is, the mission to deliver really good food in a place where every one can eat and drink without needing a special occasion.
